Artisans of Aging

Grove Park Inn Resort and Spa
September 9 – 12, 2012
Asheville, North Carolina

WORKSHOP PROPOSAL SUBMISSION FORM

Due by February 29, 2012

Title of Presentation:

List at least three learning objectives for the session:

These themes come from Dennis Streets, Director of the NC Division of Aging and Adult Services and are derived from the Four Freedoms that were depicted by Norman Rockwell.

People Helping People – We are all in this together. We cannot and should not expect government to have all of the answers to meeting the needs of the most vulnerable.

People Getting Ready – Must acknowledge the importance of self-awareness and personal responsibility. Value sound physical, mental, and fiscal health.

Aging in the Community - Recognize and support the fact that most people want to remain in their homes and communities. Value the importance of keeping people actively engaged in community affairs.

Investing in Families – Acknowledge the invaluable contributions of family members in supporting loved ones needing long term care assistance. Value the important role that many older persons continue to assume within the family.

Communities Embracing the Future – Acknowledge that the aging of our population affects nearly every aspect of our communities. Recognize the importance of being visionary and proactive in our planning and response for a maturing population.

Sessions will be 1 hour and 15 minutes in length. All of the themes are quite interchangeable. Therefore, the NC Programs Committee will categorize accordingly. The program committee also reserves the right to modify time based on availability in the schedule.

In the interest of a greener community, SE4A will not provide handouts. However, we will be happy to post presentations at the conclusion of the conference on our website at www.se4a.org.

- I give permission to post my presentation on the SE4A website (www.se4a.org).
